

General Note: There are many points where input validation occurs to verify that meets different constraints. In those cases, the user is prompted to either try again or (if possible) exit the process. I did not include these validations in this flowchart in an effort to focus on the central user actions.

